Brandy and The Looking Glass Revisited

Back in the 1970's Richard received a call from Larry Gonsky of The Looking Glass. Larry was looking for a lead singer for his new group and Richard gladly accepted. While the group didn't last long, Brandy sold more than 3 million copies and is still one of the most played songs on Oldies Radio around the country. It's ironic that Richard started singing Brandy back then and the lyrics still coincide with his many weeks at sea performing on cruise ships. He still loves singing the song today and Brandy is featured on his latest CD "Tribute to the Legends"
